What we do

Our remit is worldwide and our global portfolio seeks to address an ever-shifting landscape. We own hedge funds as well as traditional equity funds and credit funds. Primarily we back active managers but also select passive funds. We actively monitor and if needed adjust weightings to adapt to the market environment. We believe that this structure works better than a buy and hold approach in volatile markets.

A change in the zeitgeist is here, and investors need to be better equipped to survive some spectacular market shifts from global and political change.

The NAV on 30th April was 165.35p

The Global Total Return Strategy is available separately as a segregated mandate.

The strategy is a multi-asset portfolio and may be considered appropriate for investors with a long term investment horizon who are looking for a consistent return with lower volatility than equity markets generally – typically less than 2/3 of the S&P500.

VT Global Total Return Fund

As at 30th April 2026

The VT Global Total Return Fund rose 2.7% over the month as equity markets rebounded strongly. US equities performed well reaching new highs supported by resilient earnings and renewed strength in growth and technology stocks, benefitting our holdings in the broad market America index fund and the specialist Herald Worldwide Technology Fund. Elsewhere our Asia Pacific and emerging markets exposure were strong contributors.

In contrast, the more defensive parts of the Fund detracted. Our hedge strategies had a challenging month as equity markets moved decisively higher and dispersion worked against their positioning. Our credit holdings also proved a mild drag, as both investment grade and high yield bonds were pressured by persistent issuance and cautious central bank messaging.

From a positioning perspective the Fund remains conservatively balanced. We continue to see an unsettled macro environment shaped by geopolitical risks, uneven global growth and inflationary pressures. As such, we maintain a meaningful allocation to liquidity, quality credit and diversifying strategies alongside our global equity exposure.

Investment and Risk Profile: By investing in funds which invest within Global Total return fund types, you are likely to be looking for an investment which aims to return a positive return, with capital preservation and lower volatility than equity markets generally. You are willing to accept however, that your investments will fall and rise and you could get back less than you invested – also that when equity markets do well, this Fund may not deliver the same high returns in the short term.
